

Anna Grancell Honored at Gala Party

Amid a bower of roses, sweet peas and daisies, socialite Anna Grancell, of Redondo Beach was honored at a gala birthday dinner-party in the Venetian Room of the Ambassador hotel recently.

tended the celebration. A new auxiliary in support of Mount Sinai hospital has been named in her honor, the Anna Grancell South Bay chapter. The guest list included officers and members who witnessed the presentation of the official charter during the evening. George J. Pathfinders Receive Top Area Honor Pathfinder Youth club of Torrance has been named for top honors over 38 other church sponsored units in the Southland during January and February by Southern California church youth officials. Pastor Glenn L. Goffar, leader of the local club, said that the Southern California conference of Seventh-day Adventists has scored the club over other club groups in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, and Ventura counties for its work in "maintaining the 7-point efficiency program for Pathfinder Youth clubs."

Pastor Goffar said that the church organization's announcement listed Torrance Pathfinder Youth club as achieving 13 of a possible 14 honor points. Points are given for promptness in reporting club activities, regularity of club executive meetings, maintaining of a proper number of club counselors, provision of uniforms for 90 per cent or more of club members, regular attendance by at least 80 per cent of the club, all members working toward vocational honors, and regular field trips for club members. The local club leader said that there are 20 members ranging in age from 9 to 15 years. Purpose of the unit is to provide church-directed youth fellowship with emphasis on out-of-door activity, Elene Zumwalt stated.

Girls must talk. That is undeniably true and sometimes a problem. However, in the hands of the Junior Woman's club drama group, it becomes a delight. The newly formed group presented the short sketch, "Girls Must Talk," at the recent club business meeting. The production was directed by Mrs. Ray G. Lires. Wearing their hair painted in various improbable colors and counterfeiting the immobility of mannequins were: Mesdames J. W. Day, Charles Blahnik, D. E. Moore, and W. M. Montgomery.

Juniors Admit That 'Girls Must Talk'

The recently formed Junior club singing group, the Junior Pipers, provided background music for the production. The singing group was organized by Mrs. Sid Gans and is under the direction of Mrs. Allen Hofferber. During the business meeting, Mrs. John Schwartz was chosen alternate for the State convention on May 4 and 5, in San Francisco. An additional donation was made for the after-graduation party, Mrs. John Agapito reported. Mrs. Joe Bay, federation director, asked members to save all newspaper clippings pertaining to Juniors, and bring them to the meetings each time. A great number of them are needed at report time, she said. Americanism chairman, Mrs. Lee Allen, announced that an advanced First Aid class will start soon at the high school in room 101. More information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Allen.
